Call for Proposals: 2016 Special Topic Issue

TESOL Quarterly (TQ) is seeking proposals from prospective guest editors for the 2016 special topic issue. Proposals are chosen by the TQ Editorial Advisory Board, and the guest editor(s) are responsible for overseeing the review process and selecting the content of the issue. The issue will appear in September 2016.

Successful proposals have an overarching theme that is timely and interesting to the TQ readership. Here are some recent examples:

- 2007: Race and TESOL
- 2008: Psycholinguistics and TESOL
- 2009: Teacher-Based Assessment: An International Perspective on Theory and Practice
- 2010: Policy, Research, Theory and Practice in Adult Immigration Programs
- 2011: Narrative Research in TESOL
- 2012: Novice Professionals in TESOL
- 2013: Plurilingualism in TESOL
- 2014: K-12 Standards-Based Educational Reform: Implications for Immigrant and Indigenous English Language Learner Populations
- 2015: Multimodality in TESOL

Proposals should include the following information:

• Need and rationale for this special issue

• Possible topics of inquiry

• Timeline

• Qualifications of the editor(s)

• Call for abstracts for the issue

For a sample proposal, or to submit a proposal, please contact Brian Paltridge or Ahmar Mahboob. All proposals should be emailed to Brian Paltridge and Ahmar Mahboob no later than 31 August 2014.
